Development of a graduate student into a professional involves presentation of the results of scholarly activities at professional meetings and other such forums. DEREЕ – The American College of Greece supports professional development of graduate students by awarding grants to defray costs of travel for participation in such meetings.

Nature of the award: Awards are for a maximum of €300 each. A graduate student is eligible for one award per fiscal year (1 July through 30 June of the following calendar year). The award is paid directly to the graduate student after conference attendance.

Eligibility: To be eligible for support, the applicant must be formally registered for at least one graduate credit hour at DEREЕ during the semester or term when the presentation is made. This travel grant program is designed to support presentation of findings of graduate student research. The program is not intended to support recruitment activities, attendance at meetings without presentation of scholarship, costs of publication, or costs of conducting research.

Reports: Within 30 days of returning from the conference/meeting, prepare and submit, to the Dean of the Graduate School, a brief report (in the form of a letter or memorandum). In this letter, relate the impact and benefits the meeting may have had on your professional development, and a brief accounting of expenses incurred, along with original receipts and a completed requisition form. Award recipients who fail to submit reports are ineligible for future support from Graduate School travel program.
